

The hack: a derived channel outperforms the raw sensor it is derived from

Raw accelerometer magnitude — the event is a rounding error on top of gravity

Derived vibration channel — same sensor, same samples, gravity subtracted

